

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

In the catalyst-applying treatment, the sensitization treatment is carried out by dipping the 5 base material which has been subjected to the preliminary treatment in a tin chloride solution applied with a predetermined amount of fluorine type anionic surfactant, and the activation treatment is 10 carried out by dipping the base material which has been subjected to the preliminary treatment in a palladium chloride solution applied with a predetermined amount of fluorine type anionic surfactant.